THE WACKY RACERS RETURN TOP

ON Sunday 25th May the second Wacky Races event took place in Linton. This year proved even more popular and a great many people turned up - both to take part and to soak the participants with water bombs, water guns and even a fire hose!

The event was organised by The Crown Inn and raised money for the Cystic Fibrosis Trust and the Linton Scouts group. The first team home were Area Scaffolding who managed to make the finish line in an amazing 12 minutes and 30 seconds.

We will be featuring more news from the Wacky Races next month so don't forget to send us your pictures and tell us about your favourite moments. LNT

THE SOUND OF SIX BELLS

TOP

EXCITEMENT is building in the bell tower of St Mary's Church. Recently, St Mary's was the recipient of the very kind donation of a bell to augment the existing ring of five bells, to six. The St Mary's Linton Ringers Guild is delighted, as a peal of six sounds much better than five.

The members of the guild are an extremely dedicated bunch. After the flood in October 2001, they carried on as usual, both on practice nights and for the Sunday services held in the Social Centre before the church was cleaned up enough to use. Even so, they state that a big advantage to the new bell is that it will be far easier to ring!

The bell frame already has a space for a sixth bell and so the augmentation itself is relatively simple. The existing bells have plain bearings and are difficult to ring whereas the new bell will be hung on ball bearings. As the existing bells have not had any major work carried out on them for at least a hundred years it was decided it would make sense to have the older bells overhauled at the same time, because the total cost would be less than having both jobs done separately.

The Ely Diocesan Association of Bell ringers is eager to support the work with a grant but there will still be a substantial shortfall of approximately £12,000.

Obviously some major fund-raising is needed! The bell ringers are already donating their fees for ringing bells at weddings but any further donations would be gladly received and can be sent to The St Mary's Linton Ringers Guild Tower Captain, Keith Nightingale, (Middleditch, Hadstock Road).

If you are interested in the art of bell ringing (less commonly known as campanology) the Guild are opening up the ringing chamber to visitors, after service at approximately 11am on Sunday 15th June. Whilst coffee is being served at the back of the church there will be an opportunity to visit the ringing chamber and see a demonstration of how it works. If you are interested you would be most welcome to come along. We normally ring before the 10am service to tell the villagers a service is about to take place. We practise on Wednesday evenings and also ring for weddings if requested. We are sure everyone in the village has heard us at some time!

THE PARISH COUNCIL Reported by Graham Potter TOP

May Council Meetings

COUNCILLORS reported that repairs to the aerial runway on the Recreation Ground have been completed. Changes in the law now require a trained person to check the equipment each week. The parish plan is still on target for June.

The tree warden was asked to check on trees that are being strangled by ivy. Some members of the public were not able to attend a Council meeting in April because of its difficult access for disabled people. Future meetings are to be held in the Cathodeon Centre with immediate effect. This will be reviewed later in the year. The council were shown plans for the proposed lighting in the church yard. The council are in favour of the plans but have reservations about some safety aspects and have requested that these be addressed.

Two councillors, Mrs Read and Mr Birch, have resigned. Their places will now be filled by election or co-option.

Council rejected the plans put forward for the development on the old hostel site on Back Road despite pressure to get them passed to meet budgets.

Plans were rejected as the road access was in the wrong place, due to lack of cooperation with Granta Housing. Alternate plans have been drawn up to show the development can accommodate the objections.

Dr Val Urwin stood down as Chairman of the Parish Council after two years. Mrs E Bald has taken over as Chairman and Graham Potter as Vice Chairman. Most other Council officers remain the same.

The District Councillors gave an update in the government changes to official allowances for development density which is now 30 houses per hectare, with low cost housing included in developments of 15 or more houses. Enforcement orders on planning irregularities. are being increased

The audited accounts were received and agreed by the council.

ANASTASIA MAKES HER DEBUT

TOP

stepping out on the Hadstock Road

A RARE Amur (or Siberian) tiger cub, born at Linton Zoo on February 1st 2003, has just started to venture outside with her proud mum Deja, herself born at Leningrad Zoo. Anastasia can usually be seen exploring the outside enclosure. This mischievous bundle of fun is keeping her mum on her toes and our visitors entranced for hours.

The summer is always a good time to visit the zoo to see the new babies. In addition to the tiger cub, other zoo babies to look out for are a baby Sclater's lemur, eagle owlets and a cotton top-tamarin.

Linton Zoo is open daily, all year round and we have arranged a schedule of activities and events for the weekends and school holidays as part of our commitment to environmental education.

- o Furry friends children's encounter: meet Flopsy our rabbit and her friend Fudge the guineapig. If you are thinking of having a pet rabbit or guinea-pig, here is a chance for you to ask our small animals keepers for care and husbandry advice.

- o Tapir feed and keeper talk: meet our tapir family and find out all about these rainforest mammals.

- o Owl encounter and barn owl conservation: meet Becky the Barn Owl.

- o Snakes, bugs and little beasties: find out much more about some of our little creatures at this exciting interactive session with tarantula spiders, giant millipedes, giant land snails, stick insects, hissing cockroaches and Percy the royal python.

If you are planning a visit to see any of the above, please phone on the day itself to ensure the event you wish to attend will still be taking place % 891308. Our Quiz Trail is available every day, not just during school holidays.

WI TALK UP A THIRST

TOP

TRICIA Lewis, the new president, welcomed members and visitors to the May meeting which was very much a member's participation evening. Joan Pearman informed us that the outing to Bletchley Park was full, with a waiting list.

Reports were then read out of visits by some members to the residential WI Denman

College, a beautiful old house in Oxfordshire where there are numerous sets of buildings in the extensive grounds accommodating many activities and courses for members and husbands. Accounts of other enjoyable outings and meetings were read out by members.

Members then voted on three resolutions: Vocational Training, Care of Older People, and Children's Health. Our delegate will attend the AGM in London to cast the majority vote.

Refreshments were very welcome after so much discussion and we then played two very noisy games of Beetle. Judith Appleyard was the winner.

At the next meeting on June 3rd, David Cunningham will talk on 'eLife Saving and First Aid in the Home'. Visitors most welcome. CMN

The church will be open to view the interpretation of this theme in flowers, starting at 10am on Friday 6th June. At 7pm there will be a barbecue and barn dance at the Infants' School. There is a full programme of events for the rest of the weekend too. Please come and enjoy.

RAIN STOPS MAY

The regal thing: Luke Plumb and Jamie Porter

TERRIBLE weather meant that the Linton Granta Playgroup and Toddler groups had their annual May Day celebration in the Playgroup room, not in the garden as planned. But the wet weather did not dampen the fun. The maypole was brought inside and the children, dressed up as May kings and queens, danced around it. There was a picnic lunch and games and prizes for the best-dressed king and queen in two age categories: Toddler May queen and king were Sophie Moss and Joseph Crump; Playgroup May queen and king were Jasmine Porter and Luke Plumb. Congratulations to all those who took part.

MIRACLE WALKERS

TOP

Dear Editor,

On Wednesday 25th June we will once again be having our Charity Walk, walking over the fields to Hildersham and back. We will be leaving the Infants' School playground at 6pm. Cost is just £1 per family, which is going to the Children's Hospice at Milton.

We are also collecting pennies for Riding for the Disabled, so please all come and join us ñ wet or fine.

Dear Editor,

I am writing to thank the many Linton folk who generously sponsored the trek to Nepal that my brother and I recently undertook. In total the two of us raised over £3,750 for The Leprosy Mission's hospital in Anandaban, Nepal, and we estimate that as a group we have raised around £60,000. I'm sure you will agree that this is a magnificent figure, and I would like to emphasise that none of the money raised was used to pay for the trek, the costs of which were all covered out of our own pockets. The trek was a great success in every respect, despite both of us succumbing for a day or two to bad stomachs during the most strenuous part of the climb up to 9,000 feet. All of the trekkers (who ranged in age from 20 to 64!) completed the 50 miles along the Siklis trail through the Annapurna range of the Himalayas. Whilst being extremely basic in their facilities, the camp sites that we stayed in more than made up for this through their stunning locations.

Before we embarked on the trek, we spent a day being introduced to all aspects of the work at Anandaban Hospital. The activities include: sending preventative teams out into the community; a physiotherapy clinic; a reconstructive surgery theatre; a general medical out-patients facility; training for leprosy-afflicted patients in safer techniques for carrying out everyday activities such as gardening and cooking; conducting world-class research into the diagnosis, prevention and treatment of leprosy.

Your money will help to ensure that these activities will continue to be made available as a free service to the people of Nepal, so, once again, we thank you on their behalf.

OUR THANKS TOP

Dear Editor,

I would like to express my sincere and grateful thanks for all the kind and comforting messages and letters I have received since the death of my dear sister Hetty.

With my failing eyesight she had been so very patient and caring with me during the last months of her life. I shall miss her dreadfully and I fear the future will be very empty and dull without her. I thank you all.

WHIMSICAL BINS? TOP

Dear Editor,

I understand from various articles in the local press that in the not too distant future our household waste collection system is to be changed drastically. The simple black plastic bags and green boxes are to be replaced by two, or perhaps three, large wheelie bins per household, one for domestic waste, one for garden waste and one for ???

Can anybody on the Parish Council tell me why the change is necessary? Is it to meet: some international agreement on waste disposal to which the UK has signed up? Or targets/legislation introduced by the European Community and now incumbent upon the UK? Or targets and/or impending legislation imposed by the UK government? Or is it the whim of some well intentioned but totally misguided bureaucrat at SCDC, who sees this as a route to improve the service and/or reduce costs?

I am totally in favour of good husbandry of our planet. Thus, I am happy to segregate household waste, newspapers, tins and glass for street collections and to take other items to the tip, as most people in the village appear to be.

I fail to see how the proposed changes offer any improvement over this system other than the reinstatement of garden waste collection (which could, of course, be handled with simple green plastic bags). I can however see serious problems in respect of storing large wheelie bins in small gardens, handling these in confined spaces (particularly by the elderly or infirm) and the potential of such bins to attract unwanted flies and vermin, particularly if left uncollected for two weeks in the summer.

Thus my second question - am I the only person in Linton who sees things this way? If so my apologies for wasting your time reading this and my promise to acknowledge the 'democratic' view of my fellow Lintonians. If not, perhaps it is time to lobby SCDC to rethink this scheme.

AMANDA Wayne and her partner moved to the village a year and a half ago and, like the majority of us, they love it here. So, when they decided to get married, they resolved to arrange the whole wedding using local Linton services. They've managed very well. The whole wedding has been arranged with the help of people and businesses in Linton, from the venue and marquee right through to the flowers. There is just one vital ingredient missing.

The cake!

If there is anybody in the village who is a dab hand at making and decorating wedding cakes please get in contact with Amanda on %892104 and help fulfil their challenge. But please be quick, the wedding is at the beginning of August! LNT

Linton Rainbows with their charitable cache of coins

TWO Guides have been chosen to represent Cambs East Guiding at the international camp in August. Natalie Fletcher helps at 1st Linton Rainbows each week. Rainbows is the youngest section of the Guiding movement. At Linton we have ten girls aged 5 to 7.

Linton Rainbows wanted to help Natalie with her fund raising, so we decided to do this by practising our Guiding motto 'Lend a Hand'. Each of the girls used their Easter holidays to do chores around the house in return for Coins for Camp. Staff at the Saffron Walden Herts and Essex Building Society made donations in return for homemade cakes. Exploiting the Footsteps to Freelifelife theme, we made a trail of our own footprints and we celebrated at a meeting in May when we had filled our footprints with the coins collected. We not only had great fun and helped others, we raised £45.87 for Natalie.

If you are able to make a donation, please contact Fiona Fletcher or Sue Filby on fiona@fletcher.fsnet.co.uk or sue.filby@tesco.net Sue Filby

HOT SHOTS GET THEIR WINGS

TOP

Club member Mike Clay under the tail of a VC-10

LINTON Camera Club members were greeted with a blue sky full of lots of photogenic fluffy clouds for their May awayday at Duxford air museum. The day started with an entertaining and helpful talk by Camera Club member Ron Pitkin on the similarities and differences between photography and art, illustrated by many of his own artistic pieces. After the talk, we went our separate ways to point our lenses at whatever took our fancy.

Being the only woman in the club, I was determined to photograph something out of the ordinary that no one else would see, and I managed to gain special permission (with a borrowed reflective jacket) to go onto the runway and explore the world famous Memphis Belle bomber. I was given a guided tour of the inside and sat in the same cockpit seat that Harry Connick Jr occupied in the film, Memphis Belle. I felt very privileged being there, and realised how difficult it must have been getting about inside the small space, hard enough for me on the ground, but in flight and under fire it must have been terrifying.

Other members took a detailed photographic interest in the American pavilion, with its exhibits ranging from veterans to stealth bombers and the infamous B-52; the land warfare site; and the famous planes in the British hangar - including Concorde 001, the TSR2 bomber, and a mighty Vulcan. It gave a good opportunity to put into practice some of the ideas from Ron Pitkin's art talk. Some members went home at lunchtime but others stayed to photograph demonstration runs of tanks, armoured cars and military vehicles during the afternoon. The next meeting (10am, June 8th) will combine some time at the Social Centre to show photographs from the last three awaydays and then a couple of hours at St Mary's Church for the Flower Festival. In July, the club will visit the Tudor reconstruction at Kentwell Hall: this is the event when partners are invited to join the day's photography, followed by dinner in the evening. Everyone is welcome, whatever their photographic interest, medium or proficiency. Inquiries to John Keeble on 894948 or email jkeeble@clara.net. The club always meets on the second Sunday of the month.

RESIDENTS INVEST IN ENVIRONMENT

TOP

CHALKLANDS Residents Association is actively working towards improving the visual aspect of their estate. Last autumn residents planted over 6,000 bulbs resulting in a beautiful display this spring. Residents have very much appreciated the many compliments that have been made about the bulbs from other Linton residents.

Chalklands is now raising money for a more ambitious project. An arts feature sited at the entrance to Chalklands would further enhance the estate and add to the beauty of the village. Residents are currently raising money to redesign the steps, railing and lamp that lead up the bank to the bungalows, and to finance a stone carved Chalklands sign.

The residents have been very encouraged by the support of Linton Parish Council and South Cambridgeshire District Council. A grant has been received from SCDC Arts Development Unit and donations have been received from the Dog & Duck public house, The Village Pharmacy, Gary Hall Insurance, Linton Paving Company, The Darryl Nantais Gallery and Sweet Talk News.

The next fund-raising event will be a Table Top Sale from 10 am to 12 .30 pm at the Linton Social Centre in Coles Lane on Saturday 7th June . Admission is free. To book a stall and for details of prices contact Cherry. Lots of interesting bits of bric-a-brac have already been donated. Further donations of items and raffle prizes would be much appreciated.

ACE NEW NAME

TOP

THE Mobile Warden Scheme and The Social Club have a new name - Activities and Care for the Elderly - ACE!

This is the name chosen as the umbrella title of the scheme covering two aspects of village life for older people; the change was requested as part of our bid for charity status.

The Mobile Warden Scheme, which provides support similar to that in a sheltered housing scheme, is one arm.

The Social Club, which organises activities to help people meet and widen their range of friends, is the second arm. Together they are ACE.

There was a "Soup and Rolls" lunch on 16th May, when Mike Petty gave an illustrated talk on "Disappearing Cambridgeshire". The poor weather reduced our numbers - which meant we could have second helpings - but those put off by the weather missed a very amusing and informative talk. Mike showed how many buildings and historic sites we have lost. More interestingly we saw how living conditions and ways of life have changed; those picturesque cottages have not always been so coveted. Villagers had little comfort under the thatching and lived in the semi-dark, cooking on open fires with draughts and children vying for space. Other slides showed crafts that are now rare, such as wheel making and ploughing with horses. One elicited the cry of "That's my Uncle Bill!" - Mrs Kenyon had never seen that photo before, so another book sale for Mike!

Our next ACE social event is a coach trip to Hyde Hall on Thursday 3rd July. We will be leaving the Social Centre at 1 o'clock. Call Gill on 891001, Margaret on 891231 or Enid on 891069 to book places. It is an RHS garden, so if you are a member, please bring your membership card with you.

Is this a record? The first mention of Christmas so far this year! (Groan...) Are there any takers for a Christmas visit to Thurston? We will subsidise the coach, but there will be a charge for this one; more details later.

"We liked Linton a lot" said Brian, it seemed a very friendly village. Things have changed a lot since we first started. We have a much bigger range in the shop and many more paper rounds than we used to when we first opened but Linton is still a very friendly place. Many of our customers have become our friends now!

Hayle & Jacobs deliver newspapers throughout Linton, as well as in Bartlow, Hildersham and Hadstock. In addition to a full range of newspapers and magazines they stock pocket money toys, children's books, and even helium balloons. THE BUSH TELEGRAPH TOP

SOMETIMES things really do come in bursts and the last few weeks have proved the point. Firstly, I received a telephone call from the DfES telling me that the College has been awarded Beacon School Status again, as a result of the work it has done over the last three years in helping other schools to improve. This was very pleasing and brings substantial extra funds into our overstretched budget. Shortly after this I received a letter from Education Minister David Milliband congratulating the College on achieving a national award for excellence based on examination results at 14 and 16 over the last three years. This also came with a sum of money, this time to be shared among all staff as a bonus. Then came a message from one of the country's largest unions, Amicus, saying that its new Chief Executive would like to visit us to see how we are developing our plans for specialist status as a Business and Enterprise College. In its old guise as the AEEU the union had been a prospective sponsor so you never know! Just to keep on the roll, we then heard from the Home Office that the Minister for Rural Affairs, Alun Michael, wanted to spend some time at the College to see how we worked with those young people who sometimes fall through the education and training net and therefore do not achieve all they could in life. This involved discussions about the new Connexions service for which the College has been a pilot and a visit to Linton Action for Youth and the Drop In Centre to talk to some young people. Mr Michael seemed pleased with what he saw and has since emailed his appreciation.

At about the time this comes through your door the fifth event will be taking place. No less than the South African High Commissioner, Her Excellency Ms Lindiwe Mabuza is visiting the College, having heard about our links with Boepathutse School in Soshanguve and the fantastic efforts of Luke McKenna (aged 14) who has personally raised thousands of pounds for our partner school. As well as touring the College and meeting Luke and his family, the High Commissioner will present Luke with the Diana, Princess of Wales Award for his outstanding contribution to the school/community at a special assembly.

The next news we expect to hear from government will be the outcome of our Business and Enterprise bid and we should hear this by the middle of June. Needless to say, our fingers are well and truly crossed.

GARDENERS SHOW OFF TOP

WARM weather again contributed to the success of the Gardening Club's plant and produce sale on 10th May so a good sum was raised which will help towards the cost of the annual show. A big thank you to them as well as to the donors of goods, the helpers and the buyers.

The show is on 12th July in the Social Centre and schedules are available from Alex Todd, % 892979, or Susan Anderson % 891623. For those who wish to enter the photographic section, the categories are: flower(s) on a single stem, historic Cambridge, reflections, a holiday scene and 'my garden'. Adults will be limited to four photos per category. The children's subjects are your holiday or your pets. LINTON COUNTRY DIARY BY DARRYL NANTAIS

Illustrated by Maureen Williams

ON May 10th I awoke to the warning sound of a fearful blackbird. This guardian of the peace, turdus merula, sworn enemy of the poacher and cat and famed for being drunk and disorderly on fermenting apples in Linton, is the catalyst for this month's diary. Looking out of my window I saw nervous tits, squirrels and other arboreal inhabitants flitting amongst the light, yet lush green leaves of spring. There, fifteen feet high in an Italian poplar was the black and white reason for all the commotion. Unable to control his instincts to kill, Sparky finally left his favourite observatory and arrived home with a gift of minced frog, but after all, it was my birthday. Entre nous it must be the French in me that found the little croaked anthropoid less repulsive than if it were a bird. What a waste of tender legs! Incidentally, for those unaccustomed to French country cuisine, frog legs normally taste a little like chicken, especially those chickens fed on dried fish.

My garden pond this year is practically overrun with newts and frogs. They have divided their watery world between them, newts to the left, frogs to the right. Whatever the reason for this might be, I have for sometime been considering adding fish to the aquatic equation. So, off I went to do some research on the effects of this action. I was told by an enthusiastic aquatic technician to net the current inhabitants of the pond and release them to the wild. I could then happily introduce some fish he, "just 'appen to 'av' fo' sale".

Alternatively, he continued, I could wait until the frog-breeding season is over. You see, it turns out that frogs are not particular about mating partners and consequently the fish too become the focus of their amorous intentions. Now this may seem harmless enough, but the hug of a frog in spring is intense and enduring which, may be very nice for Mrs Frog but to a fish it can prove fatal. The reason for this is the frog's limbs can and often do wrap around the gills causing the fish to drown. An observant and diligent gentleman of our village pointed out something I thought I had imagined; the return of the beloved thrush. Where they are nesting this year eludes me, however. Perching birds such as the song thrush are known as passerines and make excellent cup shaped nests. These are usually constructed of an outer framework of twigs wedged into a bush or tree fork. Smaller pieces are then woven into the main frame until a cup is formed in the centre. This is then lined with much softer material, one presumes for comfort and insulation. The design appears to have the benefits of preventing the eggs and young from rolling out, but one wonders why so few birds bother to build a roof?

The full moon over Linton on May 16th was dioramic. Three silhouetted mallard ducks swooped through the scene and I was almost inspired to cast them in plaster of Paris to hang on my outside wall, but according to tree folklore we are in for a good deal of rain over the next few weeks.

A keen observer will notice a temporary change in the colour of the trees. In the light breezes this change from rich to pastel green is caused by seeing the underside of the leaves. Surprisingly, this has little to do with wing strength or wind direction, but occurs because of the softening of the leaf stalks by increased moisture, most obvious on trees such as Sparky's poplar.

Our next full moon is on June 14th. Until next month, look up!
